A HAUNTED MAINTOP.

How a Talkative Parrot Frightened the Tars of an English Ship.

Talking about ghosts, writes a correspondent of the Sheffield (Eng.) Telegraph, our chief mate once told me that on board a ship in which he once served the mate on duty ordered some of the youths to reef the maintopail. When the first got up he heard a strange voice saying: "It blows hard!" The lad waited for no more; he was down in a trice and told his adventure. A second immediately ascended, laughing at the folly of his companion, but returned even more quickly, declaring he was quite sure that a voice not of this world had cried in his ear: "It blows hard!" Another went, and another, but each came back with the same tale.

A length the mate having sent up the whole watch, ran up the shrouds himself, and when he reached the haunted spot heard the dreadful words distinctly uttered in his ear:

"It blows hard!"
"Aye, aye, old one; but blow it ever so hard, we must ease the ear-rings for all that," replied the mate, undauntedly, and, looking round, he saw a fine parrot perched on one of the clews—the thoughtless author of the false alarms—which had probably escaped from some other vessel to take refuge on this.

Another of our officers mentioned that on one of his voyages he remembered a boy having been sent to clear a rope which had got foul above the maintop. Presently, however, he came back trembling, and almost turning to the bottom, declaring that he had seen "Old Davy" at the cross-trees. Moreover, that the evil one had a huge head and face, with prick-ears and eyes as bright as fire. Two or three others were sent up in succession, to all of whom the apparition glared forth, and was identified by each to be "Old Davy," "sure enough."

The mate, in a rage, at length mounted himself, when resolutely, as in the former case, searching for the bugbear, he soon ascertained the innocent cause of so much terror to be a large horned owl, so lodged as to be out of sight to those who ascended on the other side of the vessel, but which, when any one approached the cross-trees, popped up his portentous visage to see what was coming. The mate brought him down in triumph, and "Old Davy," the owl, became a very peaceful shipmate among the crew, who were no longer scared by his horns and eyes, for sailors turn their back on nothing when they know what it is.

Had the birds in these two instances departed as they came, of course they would have been deemed supernatural visitants to the respective ships by all who had heard the one and seen the other.

SOME QUEER WILLS.

Extraordinary Documents Copied from South Carolina Court Records.

In overhauling some of the old books in the records of the probate court, Judge Gleason has, according to the Charleston News and Courier, come across some queer documents. Here are some of them:

A man, who has been dead so long that he shall be nameless, was hanged in Charleston for murder. He protested his innocence to the last, and the day before his execution made a will leaving his personal property, valued at $400 in money, and a silver watch and chain to his relative. The last clause of the will is as follows:

"As I am to be hung to-morrow for the murder of —, of which crime I am innocent, and firmly believing that I was found guilty by a packed jury, I bequest to this jury eternal damnation, and in order that their names may be known to posterity I herein insert their names, —, —, —, and eleven others. I order and direct that my executor hereinafter named shall deliver my body to the medical students of Charleston, S. C., and they are requested to have my bones properly cleaned, my skeleton properly mounted, so that it will pass down as a proof of the heinous and corruption used in the conviction of an innocent man."

Another man, long since deceased, and who was evidently a wealthy Frenchman, after disposing of his estate, provides for an erring daughter as follows:

"It is to me a great cause of mortification and regret to mention the name of Clotilde, my daughter, now twenty-three years old. To protect this instrument I bequest to her one barleycorn. I pray she will repent and prepare for the Lord's forgiveness."

Another man, who was a widower, and had an only daughter who seems to have been the cause of much trouble to her father, disposes of his estate and gives to his daughter "My blood horse, Jim, feeling satisfied that if she will either ride or drive him it is likely she will be brought home a corpse, in which satisfactory event then let the horse be sold and the proceeds given to the poor."

REJECTED WITH SCORN.

A Proposal That Called Forth Considerable Rage, But No Acceptance.

Some months since a gentleman had the misfortune to lose his wife, a literary lady of some reputation. After grieving for a number of weeks, a bright idea entered the head of the widower, says the Yonkers (N. Y.) Statesman. He thought he could do something to lessen his sorrow, and for that purpose he called upon a lady acquaintance and requested to speak a word with her in private. Thinking she was about to receive a proposal, the lady prepared to listen with becoming resignation.

"Myrrha," said he, with downcast eyes, as he took her hand, "you knew my wife?"

"Yes."

"It is not good for man to be alone?"

"Perhaps not."

"Did you ever reflect upon that part of the marriage service which requires couples to cleave unto each other until death parts them?"

"I have."

"I have often reflected upon it myself. Now, death has parted me from my wife and an angel was lonely."

"I should think it likely."

"I think I must do something to restore to me her kind consolations and the memory of her many virtues."

He pressed the lady's hand and sighed. She returned the pressure, and also suffered a slight to escape her.

"My dear," he said, after a long pause, "I'll come to the point at once. I have a proposal to make."

"A proposal?"

"Yes."

"Ah!" she said, blushing and covering her face with her hands.

I have concluded to write my wife's biography. Now, I have but little skill in literary exercises, and if you will correct my manuscript and write the headings of my chapters I will give you five dollars."

She sprang from his side and her eyes flashed with anger.

"I'll see you hanged first, and then I won't see you—"

She then left the room not being able to express her rage. The widower sighed, took his hat and went home.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

Imperial Aggression in America.

The following letter explains itself:

New York, March 1, 1889.
To the Editor of Evening Gazette—
DEAR SIR: England has taken advantage of her superior forces to seize Point Barina, over which Venezuela has always held undisputed sway. Her right to do so was universally recognized and undisputed by all other nations, Great Britain herself included. As you can understand, the possession of Point Barina implies the entire control of the mouth of the Orinoco, consequently of the whole river; and the aforesaid river forms together with the Amazon and the Plata the prodigious fluvial net of South America, connecting with each other through all different branches, some well-known rivers and others yet unexplored. Thus the ruler of the Orinoco can travel to Colombia by the Meta; can go to Peru and Bolivia by the Ucayali; to Ecuador by the Napo and the Amazon; to Brazil by the Rio Negro, Marañon and Beni; to Paraguay and Montevideo by the affluents of the Marañon; and all that is lacking is a communication for a distance of about 12,000 yards, in order to communicate with Buenos Ayres. England's dominion over Point Barina, and consequently over the Orinoco, is a matter of indifference to all American nations? Or will it not be the cause of trouble and strife to America in the future? I have consulted several well-known journalists on this subject, and I also desire to know the opinion of all the others of the American press for due publication.

I beg you to send me your opinion with the understanding that in so doing you will contribute to the cause of the future peace of America, in which you are undoubtedly interested. I remain, with great esteem, yours truly, PEDRO VICENTE MIRARE.

The recent seizure of Point Barina in the mouth of the Orinoco River by Great Britain is a step towards imperial aggressiveness in America.

That imperial power having laid its vice-like grip upon the East Indies and there established its armies, re-enforced by millions of Sepoys, now turns its attention to a "West Indian Empire."

Point Barina is one of the most important station points on the eastern coast of South America. It is in the mouth of the River Orinoco, the second in size of the great network of streams of that region, some of its branches joining those of the Amazon, thus covering the great plains in the interior at the heads of these great arteries of the South American Continent, and at its very heart with navigable water courses. Great Britain by the possession of Point Barina thus is enabled to command the commerce of the great basins of the two rivers and fully half of the Southern Continent. That great power now controls through commercial agencies ninety per cent. of the trade of South America. Should "she" by strategy obtain control of and establish military posts at the mouth of the Amazon and La Plata rivers as she has at the mouth of the Orinoco, then she would control also the sea coast from the Gulf of Mexico to Patagonia. This with a military control of the interior, through the natural joining of the Orinoco and Amazon at their heads and a short canal between the latter and the head waters of the La Plata would give her complete sway of all South America. That interior portion she will now virtually control by the aid of the natural waterways spoken of which reaches in a navigable condition to within a short distance of the head of the La Plata. The situation is a very serious one for the people of South America, and in no less degree to the United States. The independence of Venezuela is immediately threatened by this high-handed infraction of international law, and treaty of obligations, and the time has come in which to emphatically enforce the Monroe doctrine, for the people of the United States cannot afford to, in any manner, wink at a step which will deprive Venezuela of her treaty rights and threaten her independence, for such consummation will shortly result in the subjugation of all South America and the reduction of it to the condition of a British province.

THE Chicago Journal says the fact that President Harrison and his whole party paid their fares from Indianapolis to Washington augurs well for the new Administration. Nevada Legislators can get a small lesson from the above, but it is not likely they will.

SENATOR STEWART writes the GAZETTE, under date of March 23, enclosing a letter from the Second Assistant Postmaster-General, saying that the mail service on the Wadsworth and Stillwater route had been increased to three times a week. Senator Stewart, in communicating upon it, says:

"It would have looked better for Cleveland's Administration if this had been done before the eleventh hour, but we are, of course, thankful for all favors received."

The Department has ordered an increase of service on various mail routes in Nevada, and it looks as if it is the intention of the present administration to make it appear that the incoming administration is very extravagant, because this latter administration will have to bear the expenses of this additional service."

FISH are now running up the river and the Indians are spearing them in the riffles. They find it difficult to pass over the several dams in the river and are running up the ditches, and in that way trying to get to the headwaters of the Truckee. Fish Commissioner Mills should see that the dams are provided with fish ladders.

REV. MR. BREADY of the Carson Methodist Church followed up the adjournment of the Legislature by announcing that on yesterday he would commence a series of discourses on "future punishment."

REFERRING to the fact that Harrison has selected an American Cabinet, the Lyon County Times hopes for Home Rule for the United States.

Gets Another Chance for Life. WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Supreme Court of the United States has rendered an opinion reversing the judgment of the Supreme Court of Utah, in the case of Andrew Colton vs. the people of the Territory. Colton in a drunken scuffle, killed a companion, and was sentenced to be hanged. He appealed from the Supreme Court of Utah on the ground that at the trial the court should have instructed the jury that it might recommend the prisoner to be sentenced for life. A new trial was ordered.

A Weavers' Strike. FALL RIVER, Mass., March 11.—A weavers' strike for an advance in wages occurred this morning, and is one of the most general in the history of the labor troubles here. The weaving departments of fifty mills are practically shut down, and 6,000 weavers are idle. The extent of the strike is a surprise to the managers, who expected only a few mills would be involved. A bitter struggle will be involved.

John Erickson's Funeral. NEW YORK, March 11.—The funeral of the late John Erickson, the inventor, took place today from Trinity Church. There was a long procession; the church was crowded, and the sidewalks were crowded with people. The navy was represented by the officers of all the Government vessels here and others from the Navy-yard.

A Strong Protest. WASHINGTON, March 11.—This morning S. B. Cunningham, the disbursing clerk of the House of Representatives, and Turner, a backman riding-page, had a quarrel about a bill presented by the latter, when Cunningham fired at the backman, but missed him. The shooter was arrested.

Garrett Much Improved. LOUISVILLE, March 11.—Robert Garrett, late President of the Baltimore and Ohio, who has been demented and under guard at Ringwood, N. J., passed through here on his way to Mexico this afternoon, greatly improved.

Supreme Court Decision. WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Supreme Court has rendered a decision, holding that the time an army officer serves as a cadet at West Point be taken into account in computing larger pay.

Attempted Assassination. DUBLIN, March 11.—While Creagh, a landlord in County Clare, and his sister were driving to church yesterday, they were fired upon by unknown persons and both badly wounded.

Awaiting Further Nominations. WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Senate met without transacting any business, and took a recess until 1:30, to await the presentation of nominations by the President.

Two Men Killed. READING, Pa., March 11.—A freight train on the Reading road at St. Nicholas was wrecked yesterday, and John Gilkner, conductor, and Benjamin Walker, fireman, were killed.

A Close Call. NEW YORK, March 11.—The famous Clifton Hall Hotel at Lakewood, N. J., burned this morning. Sixty guests and twenty servants escaped in their night-clothes.

Approved by the Queen. LONDON, March 11.—The queen has approved the appointment of Sir Julian Pauncefote as British Minister to the United States.

A Weather Report. CHICAGO, March 11.—The temperature this morning at New York was 30°; Chicago, 28°; St. Paul, 30°; and New Orleans, 44°.

Nothing From Samana. WASHINGTON, March 11.—No news was received today at either the State or Navy Departments about Samana matters.

NO SAMOAN NEWS.

Nomination of Several Foreign Ministers.

THE FRENCH STOCK MARKET.

Fatal Explosion of a Whaling Bomb-Gun.

A JOURNALISTIC COLONY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]

No Information.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—At the State and Navy Departments this morning the same reply, now becoming somewhat monotonous, "We have no information," is made in answer to requests for some news regarding the alleged destruction of the Nipec. Walker Blaine says the Department of State utterly discredits the story. It now appears that the United States naval officer who was stationed at Auckland, the nearest cable point to Samoa, rejoined the Nipec some time ago. Nevertheless, the Navy Department holds that it would be speedily informed of the reported engagement through the United States Consul at Auckland had any such thing really happened.

To forward news to Berlin, the "Olas" must have run over to Auckland, and at least her arrival there would have been reported if indeed the secret of her mission to the Cable station did not leak out through some of the sailors. Captain Mullan of the Nipec, was ordered to "protect and use his good offices." They were in substance like the instructions given to Admiral Kimberly, which at the time they were issued, were regarded in some quarters as being too narrow and inadequate to carry out the popular wish. It may be recalled, however, that Secretary Whitney said at the time, in a communication ultimately laid before the House Naval Committee, that it was as far as he could go, in the absence of any definitely declared policy on the part of the Government in regard to Samoa. Judge Cary, Solicitor of the Treasury, has tendered his resignation, to take effect upon the qualification of his successor; and E. B. Youmans, Chief Clerk of the Treasury Department, has placed his resignation at the disposal of Secretary Windom. This is a position of a confidential character, and will probably be among the first to be considered.

Place Hunters.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Judge Wren of Eureka, Nevada, is endorsed by the Nevada Senators for the General Land Office. There are fifteen or sixteen candidates for Governor of Arizona, among them being George Christ and George Wolfy of Tombstone. Ex-Artillery-General S. B. Bradford of Kansas has a good chance for being appointed Governor of Utah. Many candidates are in the field for Governor of Montana. Col. J. D. McCutcheon, L. H. Hersfield and F. C. Power being the most prominent. The New Mexico candidates are Joseph Dwyer, Judge Bradford, Prince of the Territory, A. G. Morrison and General J. B. Bowman. C. H. Harris has come to Washington to push his claim for Governor of Alaska. He has fourteen rivals in Michigan, three in Wisconsin, two in Nebraska, one in Iowa and a half a dozen more in different parts of the country.

Federal Appointments.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day: T. W. Palmer of Michigan, Minister of the United States to Spain; J. F. Swift of California, Minister to Japan; J. D. Washburn of Massachusetts, Minister to Switzerland; and George Tichnor of Illinois, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, vice Maynard, resigned.

In executive session of the Senate the nominations were referred to appropriate committees when formed. Some surprise was expressed at the failure to confirm Palmer's nomination at once, but a Senator explained the rule of immediate confirmations, save of the Cabinet, is confined to Senators. Palmer is not now a Senator, and while every Senator is said to want to vote for him, it was deemed best not to depart from the rule.

French Securities.

PARIS, March 11.—Non-Stocks very weak before the opening of the Rio Tinto, and shares are now 328 francs, 70 centimes.

PARIS, 1:30 P. M.—Société des Matériaux shares are now quoted at 80 francs; Comptoir des Compte. 305.

The offices of the Comptoir des Compte have resumed their normal appearance, and the public is admitted to the Central Hall as usual. No crowds are present.

PARIS, 2:30 P. M.—Comptoir des Compte shares are now quoted at 315 francs, Société des Matériaux, 90, and Rio Tinto 315 francs, 75 centimes.

Anti-Combine Convention. St. Louis, March 11.—The Legislative delegates from Nebraska, Minnesota, Colorado, Texas and Kansas, appointed to hold a convention to effect a uniform plan of action against the alleged beef and pork combine, have arrived here, and others will come tonight. The convention will meet at noon to-morrow.

Much Excitement.

MILWAUKEE, March 11.—A mob of 2,000 gathered in front of the City Hall this morning to await the arrival of Sam Yip Ja and Hah Ding, the Chinamen charged with inveigling little girls into their laundries for immoral purposes. The police anticipated this, and took them to the courtroom easily; where they are now being examined. The crowd is very noisy, but as yet, no unlawful demonstration has been made. Fifty officers in charge are now engaged in scattering the assembly.

The crowd about the court house dispersed and no further trouble is feared.

LATER.—The crowd which had been hanging around the City Hall since early this morning suddenly left the vicinity at 3 o'clock this afternoon and proceeded in a body to the West Side, where they are now smashing in the windows and gutting the Chinese laundries. The police are hurrying to the scene.

A Newspaper Colony.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Last June the editors of the leading agricultural papers of the country visited Northern Montana. They were so favorably impressed that they formed a stock company with $200,000 capital to found a colony and build a town. The members of this company met here Saturday. The proposed town is to be located in the center of a tract 300 by 100 miles in extent, lying north of the Missouri river in the north corner of the Territory, and will be situated just across the river from Fort Belknap.

Fatal Bomb-Gun Explosion.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., March 11.—A cable dispatch from Acquimima, on the western coast of Africa, states that Captain Holmes of the whaling bark Sea Fox and servant were killed and five of the crew injured by the explosion of a whaling bomb-gun.

Bar silver, 93.

Thomas Nast, late of Harper's Weekly, is employed on the San Francisco Examiner.

The following from the pen of Mr. L. Bardell, editor of the Marion (Iowa) Pilot, will, we believe, be of interest to many of our readers. He says: "It is with pleasure that I certify to the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I have used it in my family for years and have always found it most excellent, and especially for colds, croup and sore throat. It is safe and effective. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker."

"I have used St. Patrick's pills," says Mr. J. Reynolds of Mayfield, Ky., and pronounces them superior to any I have ever before used. I do not hesitate to recommend them, knowing them to be reliable." They are thorough, yet gentle in their action, and leave the system in splendid condition. As a cathartic, or for disorders of the liver, St. Patrick's Pills have no equal. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Fick is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Oregon is one of the most productive States in the Union. Its vast mineral regions contain gold, silver, copper, iron and coal. Its immense tracts of grazing lands support thousands of cattle and sheep, and its extensive agricultural regions produce all the cereals in abundance, the yield per acre being in some instances, the largest in the world. Among the useful and valuable products of the Willamette Valley may be mentioned Oregon Kidney Tea, which has proved a boon to thousands afflicted with pain in the back and kidney difficulties. It is purely of vegetable composition and never fails. Sold by William Fininger.

CHAMBERLAIN'S FISH.

A Story of the Good Old Days Told.

In the good old days of the sixties when Bill Chamberlain kept the station on the Donner Lake route at the Little Truckee, and when three or four six-horse coaches went past his door daily, stopping at the inn for a meal such as Chamberlain can get up, the tired passengers were always ready for a romp of some kind. Fishing was good in the Little Truckee those days and Chamberlain could snare them at most any time he wanted to. One cold winter day E. B. Rail, Joe King, H. S. Mason and Jno. F. Kedder were passengers from the balmy climate of California to the Silver State, and they had not sooner removed their overcoats and got comfortably seated around Chamberlain's warm fire, than the genial Bill began telling a fish story which was so embellished that the company did not credit it. Chamberlain offered to bet the champagne for the crowd that he could go out and snare a fish in three minutes. The bet was quickly taken, and Chamberlain took his rod and started for the river. He cut a hole through the ice and put in his snare and pulled out a little scrawny sore-backed trout and started for the house, winning his wager which was paid. But it subsequently transpired that Chamberlain had won several baskets of the sparkling wine by catching the same fish. It seems that he had two in a pale sunk in the river from which he did his "snaring," and this poor little fish had been "snared" until his back was a running sore, but Chamberlain won the wine.

ALLOWING THE BILLS.

Hustling With the Claims for the Special Election.

The Board of Examiners are in session to-day at Carson rutling with the bills from the various counties for the special election. Some of the bills submitted are curiosities in their way, and only show how hungry the various Boards are when they try to get a whack at the State Treasury. In some counties the Commissioners charged $15 per day for their services when they are paid a salary of $250 per year. The primary bills were all the way from $1.50 to $40, for publishing the election proclamation. The Board will have a good time in adjusting all the claims, but they will do it and do it fairly and well.

A RUNAWAY.

A Flock of Pigeons the Cause of a Lady Breaking Her Arm.

As Columbus Morton was driving to Steamboat yesterday with his family, when near Reno, something needed attention about the harness, and Mr. Morton got out to adjust the difficulty, unitching the traces. A flock of pigeons flew up in front of the team, which became frightened and started to run, dragging the wagon by the neck-yoke for a short distance, when they alighted with a telegraph pole, upsetting the wagon and throwing the occupants violently to the ground, breaking Mrs. Morton's arm and seriously bruising the others. Dr. Hogan was called and rendered such assistance as was necessary.

A Meat Market.

John Fraser, Reno's pioneer butcher, who recently purchased the Virginia street market of Mead & Wilson, has dropped right into a nice trade. His shop, which is 16x24 feet, has been newly papered and painted, and has also his refrigerator and sausage rooms, back of his market. This afternoon Mr. Fraser had hanging in his market seven of as fine beefs as were ever hung up in a Reno market, besides quite a number of sheep and hogs, and this evening he expects to have the electric light in his place of business.

Wheeler's Fish Barbecue.

Dan Wheeler gave his friends a fish barbecue this afternoon. He drew the water from his big reservoir, three miles south of town, and invited quite a number out. The reservoir was full of catfish, trout, perch and carp, and great fun was had in catching them. Dan cleaned the place of fish of all kinds, and will not plant any more.

An Explanation.

The report that General Irish was about to establish signal service stations at Cedarville and Camp McGarry grew out of the fact that he is trying to assist C. W. Friend, of Carson, to select a couple of men competent to take charge of the stations which he proposes establishing at the above points.

The Ladies Thanked.

The chaplain of Genl. O. M. Mitchell Post desires to return his sincere thanks to those ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps who so kindly presented him with a handsome dictionary holder and a pocket note book. Their kindness and generosity is most truly appreciated and will not be forgotten.

Swept by the Tide of Popularity.

To the topmost pinnacle of success, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stands a shining proof of what genuine merit, backed by the living force of proven facts, can attain. The North and South American continents, Europe, Australia, the West Indies, Guatemala and Mexico have all contributed wide patronage and testimony of the most favorable kind, but unsolicited to swell the reputation of this sterling remedy. Among the maladies for which the most convincing public and professional testimony proves that it is a being curative, are chills and fever, biliousness, indigestion, dizziness and acute catarrhs, dropsy, liver complaint, nervousness, debility, kidney and bladder complaints. It mitigates the influence of age, hastens convalescence, has a tendency to prevent ill consequences from exposure and exhaustion. Persons of sedentary habits and laborious occupations will find it an ever useful tonic.

A PROTEST.

A Change in the Apportionment of Public School Money.

Our last Legislature in its great wisdom passed a bill changing the apportionment of the public school moneys, so as to give the large districts more money and the small ones less. This bill was claimed to be in the interest of the public schools of Washoe county, as well as the rest of the State. By its provisions Reno is the only school district in Washoe county that is benefited, which is at the expense of every other district in the county. The school fund of Reno was already in a very pletoric condition; two apportionments of the present school year gave Reno $200 more than the total disbursements of the previous school year, which gave them ten months school. With very few exceptions every other district in the county will either have to close their schools for a longer period than usual or resort to rate bills, subscriptions or special tax. The little districts were already doing very handsomely by Reno, as will be seen by the receipts from county taxes. According to the tax levy of 1888 the Reno school district paid $5,000 into the county school fund and drew out $8,600, while the rest of the county paid in $10,000 and drew out but $7,000. This speaks well for the financial ability of those who are looking out for Reno school money. But when it comes to changing this law of apportionment so as to give Reno still more of the public school money, and the outside loss, and then claim that it is in the interest of the public schools of Washoe county, is adding insult to the injury which was already inflicted. A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

The value of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in the protection it affords from the dangers of pulmonary disorders, cannot be over-estimated. Mr. C. K. Phillips, Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "About three years ago I had severe Laryngitis, which resulted in chronic hoarseness. By the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral I have since entirely re-gained my health." Mr. Henry Russell, Excelsior Printing Co., New York, writes: "Influenza became epidemic in my neighborhood. Several members of my family suffered severely with it, all of whom took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and were cured by it in a few days. It is a wonderful medicine for Influenza. Too much cannot be said in its favor."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

has cured a Cough in a few doses. It always relieves irritation of the lungs or throat, and arrests the tendency to inflammation. It strikes at the foundation of all Pulmonary diseases, is without a rival as an expectorant, and is a sure cure for the most obstinate Coughs and Colds. L. Garrett, Texana, Texas, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twenty years. For throat and lung diseases, I consider it a wonderful remedy."

THE OLD ROCKING CHAIR.

My grandmother sat in the old rocking chair (that she was not my grandmother then),
And her little face was very brightly fair
As she laughed a defiance to me!
Her sublimed butter'd like bird on its string,
Her hair wandered free on the breeze;
And every time did my grandmother sing
Underneath those old gnarl'd apple trees.
My grandfather rode through the white orchard gate,
And lethered his roan to a tree;
He'd a well-powder'd wig on his silly young
pate,
And high-tass'd boots to his knee.
From the pink apple blossoms that over him hung,
He brush'd off the dew with his hat;
Till he came to the place where the rocking
chair sat,
And my merry young grandmother sat,
The twinkling and daisy-bloom'd, round in their pride,
And look'd at their sweetest old slip;
But my grandfather brush'd and my grandfather sigh'd.
As he look'd at their heads with his whip,
My granny she humm'd her a cunning old song--
"Faint heart never won lady fair!"
So he woo'd and he pray'd, and before very long
There sat two in that old rocking chair!
--John Gerald Treman.

OPIUM AND ANTIPYRIN.

Women Who Are Slaves to Habits Which Ruin Body and Mind.

"It is strange," said a popular phar-ma-cist of Park row to a New York correspond-ent of the St. Louis Globe Democrat, "to see how many women are 'slaves' of Opi-um. Of course, when I say Opi-um, I do not mean any thing peculiarly demoralizing or sugges-tive of that sulphurous realm of which so much is said. I am only using an old term in the phar-maceutical trade for people who get into the habit of using some pernicious drug."

"The commonest vice in this regard is the opium habit. The number of victims of this habit is far up in the thousands. Some buy the crude gum, and eat it as regularly as they take their daily meals. Others buy laudanum, and drink it in quarter ounce, half ounce and even ounce portions, accord-ing to the extent to which they are con-trolled by the narcotic. Some, who have been palates and tender stomachs, can not take laudanum, and use instead paregoric. This ancient midwife's favorite is simply a sweet preparation of opium flavo-red chiefly with aniseed and tastes somewhat like the aniseed or kum-mel used in French and German res-taurants. Still others of the same sort use the infant's soothing sirups, which quacks put upon the market for the apparent bene-fit but the eventual ruin of babies, and which are so heavily spiced and flavored as to suggest Frenchized candies rather than any medicine. Outside of these are the people who use Dover's powders and mor-phine pills. Both of these, and espe-cially the latter, act rapidly and are very popular with opium fiends who wake up in the early morning with large and painful heads. All of the opium fiends are ob-jects of pity. The habit seems more a disease than a vice. As it progresses, their whole nature, physical, mental and moral, seems to undergo a complete revolution. At the first they slowly lose their appetites, and then the eyes become preternaturally bright. Soon the flesh begins to fall away, and the space around the eyes becomes dark from being surcharged with blood. Next the skin loses its normal color and changes to a sodden gray, a blotched brown or an unhealthy yellow. After this come the strangest symptoms imaginable. In the coldest day the victim perspires cop-iously and shivers at the same time. On the other hand he complains of being frozen in mid August, when the thermometer is in the nineties. Without the slightest cause he suddenly weeps and betrays all the emotions of intense distress. When this stage is reached he or she is a 'fiend.'"

"Another habit," continued Dr. Perry, "which comes under the druggist's eye is the 'bromide habit,' which includes the ex-cessive use of bromide of potassium, bromide of ammonium and bromide of lithium. 'The bromide fiend' gradually develops an abnormal condition of the nervous system, which sleep, or even comfort, is impossible without a constant use of the anodyne salts. Muscular and intellectual exertion grow more and more difficult, until the habitue gets into a semi-sleepy state, in which she simply moves and vegetates rather than lives."

"The new coal-tar product, antipyrin, has already started a vice of its own. This singular compound was discovered by a German chemist, and on account of its re-markable qualities, is now used the world over. It has the power of reducing the temperature of the body by several de-grees, and so is of vast utility in treating fevers and febrile stages of many diseases. It does its work by depressing the action of the heart, and generally when employed by physicians it is accompanied with digitalis to neutralize its influence in the latter regard. Women use it partly because it is a sedative and partly because it makes the complexion beautifully clear and pale by keeping the blood away from the surface of the body. The habit, like all others, grows upon the person who practices it. It does harm, however, from the first. With women who are weak, it increases their weakness; with those having a pre-disposition toward heart disease of any sort, it increases the tendency to a terrible extent. Besides these results, antipyrin exerts a peculiar influence upon the blood, which is not thoroughly understood by the faculty. It seems to undergo some decom-position or breaking down when absorbed by the system, developing unknown com-pounds which either attack the blood itself or else powerfully influence the nerves and ganglia which control the vital functions."

"Two other habits," said Dr. Perry, "are much more common than is generally be-lieved, the use of chloral and of cocaine pre-parations. Both are terrific vices, while the latter means physical and mental ruin. Chloral acts in a peculiar way. It decomposes in the blood and changes to chloroform, which in turn acts as an anesthetic within the body just the same as when in-haled. The 'chloral fiend' can be detected at a glance. Her face assumes a yellowish or greenish hue that is unmistakable; the eyes become sad and blood shot; the lips grow discolored; the breath assumes a hor-rible flavor; the appetite vanishes and the nerves become disordered to the worst de-gree. The cocaine fiend is beyond redemp-tion. She lives in a world of dreams that are shattered only when health departs and reason vanishes. She is irresponsible and deaf and blind to conscience and even de-cency."

"There is one thing more which ought to be said, and that is a protest against the senseless outcry of how physicians start these habits by careless prescriptions. Out of one hundred alleged cases which I have examined every one arose from the curi-osity, folly or intrinsic viciousness of the victim, and not one from a habit contracted while under medical treatment. The out-cry probably results from the fact that the fiends obtain supplies of their favorite drugs upon physicians' orders. To get these recipes they adopt every expedient. They pretend to have neuralgia or insomnia and deceive the alient doctors; they borrow pre-scriptions which contain their particular poison and make dozens of copies; they con-sult chemists and obtain orders upon phar-ma-cists; in fact, they exhaust human ingenuity in endeavoring to get their depen-dency."

MERIT AND "LUCK."

According to Goethe the Two Are Very Closely Related.
"The chapter of accidents," it has been well and forcibly said, "is the Bible of the fool," remarks the author of the Way to Fortune. This is one of those sayings which are apt only to seem smart and striking, but are really deeper than they look. If the world and all its affairs proceed according to purpose and moral law, then it is clear that causation and not ac-cident obtains in the smallest thing as well as in the greatest, only we are purblind and do not perceive it, any more than the senses, prisoned in this "muddy venture of decoys," can perceive the celestial music of the spheres--which, indeed, is, after all, another and more poetical name for causation. Dean Swift says: "The power of fortune is confessed only by the miserable, for the happy impute all their success to prudence or merit."

"Shallow men kind of propitious influence in luck, believe in circumstances; it was somebody's name, or it happened to be there at the time, or he was so then, and another day it would have been otherwise. Strong men believe in cause and effect."

And again:
"All successful men have agreed in one thing--they were causationists. They be-lieved that things went not by luck but by law; that there was not a weak or a cracked link in the chain that joins the first and last of things."
Of all men the poet should be inclined to recognize the power of propitious influence as controlling the destiny of individuals, and yet the greatest and most successful poets have practically taught that they believed in no such thing. And in this respect, if in no other, poetry has advanced from what the positivists would call the metaphysical to the real or positive stage. No poet nowadays deems of addressing himself for help to that abstract and perfect personage, the muse, who figured so prominently in poetry from the days of Homer down to a compara-tively recent period. The poets have learned self help. They not only believe, but act on the belief that the inspiration is within, and that only energy and sincerity to self can develop their genius. So, there-fore, Goethe declares that industry is nine-tenths of genius, and adds to it this axiom as the result of his own experience: "It never occurs to fools that merit and good fortune are closely united." Notwithstand-ing all that has been said of "lucky hits," the best kind of success in every man's life is not that which comes by accident. So says Mr. Smiles, and this is but a general-ization from the wide circle of biography. To see an advantage with clear eyes, to mark it out unwaveringly, and to follow it up resolutely, is not luck.

FEMALE SNUFF-DIPPERS.

Southern Women Who Use Tobacco in a Peculiar Manner.

A popular vice among the ladies of this part of the State is the use of tobacco, writes an Ozark (Ark.) correspondent of the Omaha Bee. Some will chew it like veterans, while others are content to smoke. But by far the most common way of deriving enjoyment from its use is to take it in the form of snuff. When a number of women get together the snuff-box is nearly always produced, with the in-struction to "take a dip" as it goes around the circle. They then, with gossip and chatter, interrupting the flow of conver-sation with frequent expectorations into a big spittoon or the fireplace. A snuff-dipper's outfit consists of a small tin canister, about an inch thick by two inches long, and a wooden brush. The latter is about three inches in length, and in its handle is a white pencil. It is usually cut from black gum or some other tough wood. One end is chewed and splintered by the teeth, till it looks like a small paint-brush. The splintered end is dipped into the snuff and worked around till a little ball has been collected. The snuff, thus secured, is rubbed over the teeth and gums. Usually the stick is held between the teeth till the snuff has all been absorbed, when another dip is taken. For ladies who object to using a canister and brush a small snuff-er which can be carried in the pocket be-neath the lips and teeth. A grocer's clerk asserted emphatically that fully ninety per cent. of the women used either tobacco or snuff, or both. By think-ing men the tobacco habit among women is considered one of the worst evils with which Arkansas is obliged to contend.

THE GREAT MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF THE WORLD.--Pacific Churchman.

THE CENTURY
MAGAZINE IN 1889.

WHY Has it such an enormous circulation? Experts estimate that between two and three millions of people read each number.

BECAUSE The CENTURY is above every other magazine in its leadership. It led the development of wood-cutting in America, and it has fostered American authors. It is alive to the latest news of the day. What it prints is new, and it is interesting and instructive.

BECAUSE The greatest writers of the great reading world have found out that
"no household can keep abreast of the times without The Century." Its success is explained by its contents.

BECAUSE The greatest writers of the world like to have their work read by the greatest number, and therefore to such a magazine as The Century the best naturally comes. It was for THE CENTURY that General Grant first wrote his reminis-cences of important battles.

BECAUSE It is publishing the life of Abraham Lincoln, by his private secretaries. Of this it has been said,
"The volume man who is not reading it rolls himself of that which he will hunger for."
The coming year presents the most important part of this great history, which may begin at any time.

BECAUSE It is printing those re markable articles on "Siberia" and the "Katie System," by George Kennan, which are estimated to have sold over a million reprints in hundreds of foreign newspapers, but are not allowed to enter Russia.
The "Chicago Tribune" says that "no other magazine articles printed in the English language just now touch upon a subject which so vitaly interests all thoughtful people in Europe and America and Asia." They are as "judicial as the opinion of a Supreme Court tribunal--as thrilling as the most sensational drama."

BECAUSE During 1889 THE CENTURY has the greatest pictures of the old Italian masters, made by Timothy Cole, the leading wood-engraver in the world, who has spent four years in Italy on this work; a series of "Strange True Stories of Louisiana," by Geo.
W. Cable; occasional richly illustrated papers describing the scenes of the current interna-tional Sunday school lessons; interesting illus-trated papers on Ireland, and a series of hu-morous and pathetic Irish-American stories, a striking illustrated novelette, "The Romance of Dollars," by a new writer; and other novelettes to be announced later; supplemental waters, technical and descriptive of special incidents; "Pictures of the Far West," by Mary Hollick Foster, etc., etc. We have not space here to announce all the new features.
Let us send you (free) our "Catalogue of Spe-cial Publications," with original illustrations, containing full prospectus, special offer of back numbers to the beginning of the Siberian pa-pers, etc. The November number, which be-gins the new volume, is for sale everywhere after November 1st. THE CENTURY costs 30 cents a number, $3.00 a year. Address THE
